 - A. The Developer is willing to completely forgo this portion of the fee
 - B. The Developer is willing to defer the fee to be paid out of operating cash flow some time in the future.

Construction Accounting & Reporting

Construction Costs

- Direct costs of construction are all capitalized (contractor, architect, engineer, city fees, developer fee)
- Period costs capitalized during construction period and expensed once the property is placed in service (interest, insurance, property taxes)
- Costs are categorized by land, site improvements, offsites, building, furniture and equipment, amortizable costs, expenses, reserves

Construction Costs (continued)

- Certificate of Occupancy (C of O) or a temp C of O date determines completion of construction and date that you may move tenants in.
- Interest
 - Effective Interest method is used to match interest expense with borrowings over the term of the loan (applicable to loans with no stated interest rate for early years)
 - Interest may be calculated differently for income-tax purposes (e.g. OID, AFR, Section 266)

Construction Costs

Poll 3

1. Looking at the construction costs, which cost would you avoid if you were involved with new construction?
 - A. Bond Fees
 - B. Inspection Engineering Cost
 - C. Relocation Fees

Construction Accounting & Reporting

Construction Costs

- Relocation costs
 - Differing treatment depending on whether tenants are over income, commercial, etc.
- Developer fee
 - % of completion recognition versus milestone approach
- Special tests measuring qualified construction costs as a % of bond proceeds as a % of total costs – these will differ by state.

Construction Accounting & Reporting

Checking In

Poll 4

1. Is your company currently in the middle of an active development project?
 - Yes, definitely.
 - No
2. If so, what type
 - Rehab
 - New Construction
 - No active projects at this time
 - Both rehab and new construction

Construction Accounting & Reporting

REHAB phase

- When rehabilitation coincides with in-service use, any units taken out of service for > 30 days should capitalize pro-rated period costs (interest, insurance, property taxes)
- Units taken out of service for > 30 days depreciation on existing building has to be stopped
- If you have to comply with Davis Bacon, then any labor performed on building during rehab should be done by GC so you can include in basis therefore need to have site staff coordinate with development staff
- Relocation costs may or may not be basis eligible
- A project can claim Rehab credits or Acquisition and Rehab credits, but cannot claim Acquisition credits alone

Rehab Phase

Poll 5

1. Why might your units be out of service longer than anticipated?
 - A. Adverse Weather
 - B. Staffing issues with Construction Company or non-performance
 - C. Material Delays
 - D. All of the above

Construction Accounting & Reporting

REHAB phase

- Operation's cash is sometimes used as a source
- If a related party acquisition, the building value is transferred to the new entity based on book value of property from old entity for GAAP and the difference is recorded towards Equity (Excess of Liabilities Assumed Over Assets Acquired) in the new entity. On the tax side, the value of the asset is recognized based on sales price, which is generally the appraised value. This creates a permanent GAAP to Tax difference.

Funding Requisition Tips

- Funding Requisitions need to be reconciled to the GL each month
- Even though not required, a final funding requisition should be prepared that reconciles to the GL and to the Cost Certification before it is issued (next module) to be sure that there are no costs left behind.
- Consider using one master excel sheet with the prior month's activity hidden. At the end, you will have one master file with all invoices listed for the Cost Certification

Rehab Phase

Poll 6

1. Who prepares the Funding Requisitions in your agency?
 - A. The accounting department
 - B. The real estate development team
 - C. A development consultant
 - D. None of the above.
 - E. I don't know

QUESTIONS?

- Please use the Zoom Chat to submit questions.
- Instructors will remain on the line to answer remaining questions.
